

Please do not allow the current law regarding telephone solitiations to be weakened by allowing any of these calls to made to residential phone lines. The time working americans have at home is little and precious. The intrusions of these unwanted calls into our homes is more than a nusiance. It was such a releif to not have 20 phone calls each night intrupting our familys time. I have had several calls lately and I simply say I am on the no call list and most, but not all say sory and hang up. If you allow these calls to be legal again, it will intrupt the peace and tranquility of all homes who recieve them. Thank you for taking the time to consider the opinion of the average working american.
